

The Lally School of Management

M.S. IN SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

Lally's M.S. in Supply Chain Management is designed to turn technically oriented undergraduates into professionals who can identify and confidently solve dynamic problems that often have no perfect answer. Our curriculum adopts an interdisciplinary focus that integrates concepts from industrial marketing, operations management, and information systems. Your skills will develop rapidly through rigorous studies in the fundamentals of business followed by specialized courses in Supply Chain Management and a capstone that enables you to apply your new skills, solving a problem presented by one of our partner companies.
