STUDENT LOANS:

Low-interest, deferred-repayment graduate loans are generally available to U.S. citizens and permanent residents. International students may be eligible for private alternative loans with a credit worthy U.S. or permanent resident co-signer.

▪ Federal Loans

To apply for a Federal Stafford Loan, complete your online Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and submit the Graduate Financial Aid Application. When you apply for aid via the FAFSA, you are automatically considered for aid from all available sources, including scholarships and grants, so you will not have to fill out multiple forms.

▪ Alternative Student Loan Programs

These non-federal loans are secured through private lending institutions. Typically in such programs, the student is considered the primary borrower, with a credit worthy co-signer. Interest rates are variable, depending on the borrower(s) credit rating. In addition, the lender will look to other factors such as income and current outstanding debt. Repayment begins after disbursement, and the borrower may have up to 20 years to repay. Payment may be postponed while the student is in school at least half time.
